

Selected Accomplishments & Highlights

SPL ranked as one of the country's finest public libraries!

Library Journal (LJ), the premiere journal for librarians, rated and recognized America's Star Libraries. LJ evaluated 7,115 public libraries across the nation and selected 256 libraries as providing quality service and excellent value. They chose an index of public library output based upon four related per capita output indicators: visits, circulation, program attendance, and public Internet computer use for libraries at various budget levels. These measurements are industry recognized standards.

Other factors considered for Star Library status are:

- The library's community and their use of the library. Use by nonresidents also factors into this quality.
- The library's organization and funding.
- The leadership and management of the library.
- The library's services and facility.

SPL continually evaluates its services and role in the community and seeks to improve its customer service and outputs.

The Pittsburgh Business Times 2009 Book of Lists declared SPL one of the 25 largest Pittsburgh-Area Public Libraries. The library ranked #18 within the seven counties surrounding Pittsburgh. The ranking was based on the number of holdings, which was 89,836 in 2006. The library performed well in the categories of registered card holders, customer visits, total circulation, interlibrary loans, and minutes of computer use.

*

The Allegheny County Library Association and KDKA filmed the Summer Reading Club TV commercial at our library. The library's high ceiling suited their needs perfectly. The public service ad ran on KDKA and other media outlets including YouTube and library websites across the county.
