Many Thank You's!

From the Desk of Director, Carolyn Toth:

In the Spring I received a phone call from Alison Valli, parent of Will Valli, a Quaker Valley High School student. She requested a brief meeting with me. "Uh oh," I thought. Good news or not-so-good news? Mrs. Valli assured me that I'd be pleased and we set up a date and time to meet with her son Will.

On the appointed date and time Mrs. Valli and Will, first, stopped by to pass along greetings to our teen librarian, Emily Fear. Then Emily, in her feisty, upbeat fashion, escorted Mrs. Valli and Will back toward my office, but we met in the hallway. After introductions, and with a little encouragement from his mom, Will handed me an envelope with cash and checks and told me it was a donation to the library. I thanked Will and asked him how he came to raise money. He told me by reading books! I was impressed and a bit jealous. I would love to make money reading books.

As a part of the confirmation process at the Presbyterian Church, teens are given seed money to create a fundraiser to raise money, whereupon they contribute the proceeds to a charitable organization. (Continued on Page 6.)

Hazel and Gus are two teenagers who share an acerbic wit, a disdain for the conventional, and a love that sweeps them on a journey. Their relationship is all the more miraculous given that Hazel's other constant companion is an oxygen tank, Gus jokes about his prosthetic leg, and they met and fell in love at a cancer support group. Ages 13 and Up. (PG-13, 2014, 126min)

(Continued from Page 1) When I asked Will why he chose the library, he said, "I picked the library because so many people use and benefit from the library. I could've given it to one person, but I wanted a lot of people to enjoy what I earned in my community service project. Plus I use the library a lot."

Fifteen people paid Will to read. Including the seed money, Will donated $826.00 to the library.

I liked Will and I have a lot of respect for him. I offered him a job, but he was too young. We hope that Will accepts my offer in the future and will be working at our circulation desk this time next year when he's 16.

Thank you Will Valli!

From the Children's Department:

The Children's Department would like to thank all who helped make our Summer Reading Programs successful. We registered over 600 children for our Summer Reading Clubs. Special thanks go out to The Friends of the Sewickley Public Library; Ultimate Pastry; Pines Plaza Lanes; Bruester's Ice Cream; RMU Island Sports Center; Pittsburgh International Children's Theater; and Village Candy.

We would also like to thank our 20 teen volunteers for listening to the children report on their reading and giving them their rewards.

From the Teen and Adult Departments:

The Teen and Adult Departments would like to thank the Friends of the Sewickley Public library for generously underwriting the Summer Reading Prizes. This year we signed up 231 Teens and 155 Adults. They read 249,371 minutes and 691 books, respectively.

We would also like to thank everyone who made donations to the Library during the Summer:
