What does the library mean to me?

By FOSPL Member Teresa Duff

What does the library mean to me? ... I could probably wax nostalgic, turn on a microphone or write an ode about what the library means to me. My first memories of visiting the neighborhood library involve CLOSED signs. State and county funding was cut for resources such as libraries during the 1980's, making operating hours minimal at best. So often my family would show up eager to check out books only to find locked doors. Once the cold war ended, libraries came back to life with OPEN doors. I remember attending spring workshops like egg decorating classes and summer story time ... my love for libraries started as a child and has grown with me.

As a college student, I scoured the Arts and Humanities library on campus, researching past events in support of my latest and greatest theory on Winslow Homer and Thomas Eakins. The façade replicated a traditional Greek temple, with vast columns and a triangular pediment ... it was intimidating and exhilarating to enter such a fortress of knowledge. It inspired me. Once I graduated school, I worked as a research assistant at the Getty Conservation Institute in Los Angeles. It was here I became most comfortable speaking with scholars, walking through endless aisles of stacks, tapping into online research engines and Costumes Needed!!

Costumes are being collected in the front lobby of the library November 2-18. New and gently used Halloween costumes, uniforms, gowns, tutus, karate gi and other clothes for dress-up requested. Quaker Valley sophomore Rosa Myers will be delivering the collected costumes to a large foster care village in Israel through Classrooms Without Borders this spring. Costumes are needed for youth ages 5 to 17.

handling special collections. I was so lucky.

Is it coincidence or providence that I have ended up, so far from my home town in California, only to be amongst one of the best community libraries in the region? Throughout my life so far, the library has served many purposes for me; a place to listen, learn and make crafts, to hear stories told, to perfect my skills of research, ... and now, to bring my daughter to hear stories told, make crafts, and soon, perfect her skills in research. I volunteer my time on the board of the Friends of the Sewickley Public Library to be a part of a tradition which supports this community resource open to all walks of life; the illiterate who wants to learn to read, the second-language learner, the retiree reading the newspaper, the jobless looking for work, the infant playing with blocks, the disabled, the teenager hanging out after school, the philanthropist ... it is a resource for all generations, a place where we are all equal. It is a symbol of democracy working successfully. I am so proud to support the Sewickley Public Library with my patronage, my volunteer time and being asked ... what does the library mean to me.

Circulation Clerk Anne Stuever Announces her Retirement

Our quietly competent, totally dependable Circulation Clerk Anne Stuever has announced her retirement from Sewickley Public Library effective October 31, 2016.

Anne was first a volunteer at Sewickley Public Library for quite a few years and then began working in 1989. We are all grateful to have had Anne working in our library for almost three decades. We are very proud of Anne and her ability to adapt to the many changes during these years and to be so pleasant and friendly with both patrons and co-workers. Anne was also key in coordinating volunteers and arranging the much-loved staff/volunteer potluck luncheons in previous years. Also, many of her co-workers have been recipients of Anne's gifts of pickles, jams or relishes. The staff will miss those treats!

Please wish Anne enjoyment and a Happy Retirement!

A Message from Toni P.

"I've just finished our book (A Tree Grows in Brooklyn). I wanted to tell you how thankful I am for the 4th Tuesday Night Book Club. My experience with our September book is an example of why I have stayed a member all these years... I have been so touched reading this book. I'm a little taken aback by the emotions and memories it has evoked. I would never have picked this up to read. I wouldn't have thought of it! Thanks, Lynne, for all your time and efforts with our book group. I have had the most wonderful two weeks in the world of old Brooklyn."

Children's Department - November 2016

A thank you... from Rita...

Thank you everyone for all your wonderful expressions of gratitude upon my retirement. I received so many kind words, hugs, bookmarks, cards, letters and gifts that truly touched my heart. Thanks to the Board of Directors who designated September "Rita Crawford Month". I appreciate those who donated to the library in my honor. Thanks to the many students who created wonderful cards, books and posters sending wonderful thoughts for my future. Thanks to my colleagues for the staff luncheon and the public reception. Both were great. And thanks to those who came to the reception to wish me well, and to the Sewickley Borough for making September 20, 2016 "Rita Crawford Day." What an amazing send off. My future includes remaining part of this community and its wonderful library. So, see you out and about. Keep reading.

Thanks,

Rita Crawford
